NEW VIGOROUS STOCK

Tracy Sorgo is just what you want in a vigorous, hardy dual-purpose sorghum. Developed in Meridian, Mississippi, it will be right at home on your farm. Now you can have both syrup and feed—tons and tons of it! Since day length decides size at maturity, best Tracy planting time—late April through early May.

HEAVY YIELDING

The ability of Tracy Sorgo to produce a heavy silage is amazing. 15-30 tons per acre, year after year, is typical with Tracy. The D&PL field of Tracy you see here was estimated at an easy 30 tons per acre. Get this seed! Harvest for syrup or silage when heads are reddish brown, or at early dough stage—usually midseason.

"DELTAPINE"—produced

Just as with other seed crops from Delta & Pine Land Company, you benefit from their more than 40 years' experience in producing top quality seed for top yield. Their know-how, experience and integrity cannot be matched in the South.
